Continuous Integration Team Release

If (when!) the Continuous Integration Team will have everything set up, there should be nothing special to do with respect to the release.