

FirstDayOfWeek

In order to have the calendar working properly in tikiwiki, I would like to know if the first day of the week is connected to the language (it was what I thought until I found the wikipedia article and after some discussions) or to the country. If you can help by putting your name, the country, the language and Sunday or Monday
Thanks for your help

Modern ordering

According to the ISO 8601 norm the week begins on a Monday. This corresponds with the term weekend for the Saturday and Sunday. However following Constantine's decision to make the first day of the week the day of religious observance, Sunday may also be considered the first day of the week in historically Christian countries. In this regard calendars exist in two varieties. The traditional Sunday-first system is used by some English speakers and much of Latin America, while most of continental Europe uses the ISO order.
