

GenerateHelpPageFromPhpBaseName

Each page is generated from a php and a tpl file admins need easy one click access to both the tpl and the php

Very similar to the editing capabilities of the CSS editor now in place.

The help files for each of the Php pages generated should use the name of the php page that is displayed in the URL

This minimizes tracking the location of errors as well FacilitatesBuildingDocs