

Tiki vs Concrete5

Ohloh

Similar

- Both are written in PHP and use a database such as MySQL

Different

- Concrete5 is MIT, Tiki is LGPL.
 - "Add-ons and Themes for concrete5 can be offered under any license. Most of the add-ons available in our marketplace are either completely free and licensed under MIT as well, or they are commercial add-ons and offered under our standard commercial license. These add-ons are sold on a "per-instance" basis. This means one add-on purchase per live site. Development copies and stages are included."
 - Tiki is the all-in-one model and thus, all features are Free and Open Source.
