

As a developper of e-learning content and usability consultancy we are currently investigating the Tikiwiki platform.

Up to now, I am convinced it will do the trick. Only I haven't installed or administrated the software. But by the next week I will hopefully have survived my first installation. 😊

I would be glad to support the Teams of LearningManagementSystemDev and TikiUsability when I have gathered more experience.