I am member of a Basque Free Software users group called LibreZale.Org .Which is responsible, among other of Mozilla and Mailman translations to Basque.

We plan to use Tikiwiki with 2 main objectives:

- For normal users: As a place to get information and help about free software and basque software.
- For team members: As a coordination tool.

We decided Tikiwiki was the tools we needed, not only not only because it has a great amount of interesting features, but also because it is developed respecting the W3C standards.
