I am a freelance programmer with about 12 years professional programming experience. I have been using PHP for about 5 years and have seen PHP mature into what it is today.

What impressed me about Tikiwiki was that it had rich features and a good design.

My other programming skills include C, C++, Java, Perl and a bit of Python.

I have a Blog (using Tikiwiki of course) at <http://www.lintrix.net/~aw/>

I have some thoughts about a new module perhaps called DatabaseModuleDev.

I have also created a small Whois module for doing domain name look ups.
