I'm a systems engineer in Charlottesville, VA, currently doing networking and security stuff.

I've been playing with CMS systems for a long time, always hunting for one that meets my needs for a complete community site that is easy to manage and administer.

Tiki so far is the closest.

My home server is <http://www.arachnerd.org/>

I also host <http://www.prospace.org>, and am migrating it to tiki

This is a great system, and I like the energy of the developers. As I get more time, I'll contribute to the documentation.
