

What Tiki is Not

This is a stub

The most important is to define what Tiki is and does. And this is done in many place by various angles:

- Model
- SWOT
- Teams
- Features
- Use Cases
- Types of Users
- Fact Sheet

Now, for clarity, sometimes it good (and sometimes easier) to explain what we are not:

Inspiration:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wikipedia:What_Wikipedia_is_not

<http://ocportal.com/site/antifeatures.htm>

Table of contents

- Tiki is not a company
- Tiki is not a small application / project

Tiki is not a company

- While there are many consultants and companies offering services, Tiki itself is a community, a platform, an eco-system, etc. but not a company.

Tiki is not a small application / project

- It's vast and diverse. To make it simpler for people with out of the box needs, profiles have been developed: <http://profiles.tiki.org>