

Release of Tiki Version 3.0

Nelson Ko - 19 May 2009 13:51 GMT-0000

Tiki 3.0 is now released!

Thanks again to all who helped in making Tiki 3.0 a reality, and especially those who worked extra hard during the release process.

This version of Tiki marks a new milestone in the development of the project, as we embark on building a community around Tiki Profiles, and as the Quality Team works to help ensure that necessary bug fixes and incremental improvements make it to the 3.x versions while maintaining quality, even as cool new features are worked on for 4.0.

Regarding site upgrades to Tiki 3 from older versions, please note that many changes were made in styles, such as switching to a tableless design and revamping how buttons are styled. Many themes that were in the package are no longer supported. (Please read Theme Issues when Updating to Tiki 3.0) Plan some time to update your style if you are not ready to change it to a bundled one.

After months of hard work, the Tiki open source community is delighted to release Tiki version 3.0.

This version of Tiki marks a new milestone in the development of the project, as we embark on building a community around Tiki Profiles, and accelerate the momentum in enhancing the ease of use and capability of one of the most powerful open source collaboration/content management platforms.

Download it here:

https://sourceforge.net/project/showfiles.php?group_id=64258&package_id=312463&release_id=683704

Thanks again to all who helped in making Tiki 3.0 a reality, and especially those who worked extra hard during the release process.

The release of Tiki 3.0 also marks the start of the work of the new Quality Team that will help to ensure that necessary bug fixes and incremental improvements make it to the 3.x versions while maintaining quality, even as cool new features are worked on for 4.0.