

The Login box is a module usually somewhere on the main screen. There is a direct way to access it via tiki-login_scr.php.

The Login box allows to get LoggedIn and shows a link to get registered.

To spare having to log each time, you can use Remember me function. This spares time if making public your access to the target Tiki site using your computer (actually, the session used) is secure.

You may request a new user password if you have forgotten your original one. Just provide your username, and it will be sent to your provided email address.

Some Tiki sites ask you to enter your provided email adress in order to login. This is used to get more security.

Try it out

Login screen