

Need all the help I can get! We've decided to use tikiwiki on our website - but I've got to learn fast to try and hit deadlines.

My first task is to create a template or theme for tiki that will make it look like a newspaper. I have a photoshop image as my starting point.

So far I have discovered there are no wysiwyg editors for doing this (my heart sank - I'm very visual), and of course this may not be true in which case I hope someone sets me right.
